

HIGH SCHOOL EQUIVALENCY

Antelope Valley Adult School

January 2017

Approved Exams in California

“California has approved the use of three high school equivalency tests (GED®, HiSET®, and TASC™) for students 18 years old and older, and 17 years old in some instances, for the purpose of receiving a California High School Equivalency Certificate” (<http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/gd/>). All three exams are based on the Common Core State Standards. The state-issued High School Equivalency Certificate is recognized nationwide.

While three exams have been approved, only the GED® and HiSET® are currently administered at Antelope Valley Adult School. Both exams are offered in a computer-based format, with the HiSET also available in paper-based format at select test centers. All exams must be taken at an approved test center and cannot be taken online from home. Accommodations are available for documented disabilities.
